Sucker hubby swallows wife's wacky tale:

Our baby's black — because I ate too much licorice

. . . HONEST!

HUBBY Kevin Moroney

BABY Michael Moroney: Licorice baby?

By TOM ALLEN

Angry Irishman Kevin Moroney sued for divorce after learning his white wife lied to him three years ago when she gave birth to a black baby — and claimed it happened because she gobbled too much licorice.

"She made a fool out of me. I can't face my friends now that I know the truth," said the shamed hubby.

The gullible husband believed his wife Katie when she said their baby boy, Michael, was born black because she stuffed herself with licorice during her pregnancy. She backed up the lie with a forged letter from her doctor.

Conniving Katie used medical jargon to convince her mate that large amounts of licorice consumed during nine months of pregnancy had colored Michael's skin. The letter explained the coloring would gradually fade away before the trusting tot was 5 years old.

It didn't take much to hoodwink Moroney, 31, a grade school dropout who never learned to write his name.

They decided it would be best to keep the baby at home until the color disappeared and the baby was white. "Katie said people might not understand why little Michael was black," Moroney alleged in the suit.

Moroney never questioned his story and to co-workers at a factory in Kilkenny, Ireland, he drew disgusting pears he waited for the little toddler to turn white, but it didn't happen. He was clobbing down some suds in a pub one night with his pals when they asked to see a picture of his son. One word led to another and Moroney spilled the beans about the licorice.

His buddies were doubled up laughing as he stormed out of the bar for a showdown with his young wife.

She confessed that she had an affair one weekend with a black American tourist while he was working stables.

"I may not be the smartest guy in the world," Moroney told a reporter for the Irish Press. "But I'm not dumb enough to spend one more penny on her or some other guy's baby."

325-pound gal's bed squashes would-be rapist

A would-be rapist was hospitalized in critical condition after a bed — and his 325-pound victim — came crashing down on top of him.

Lars Lofgren, 24, suffered broken ribs, a cracked skull and unspecified internal injuries in the freakish accident. Police in Goteborg, Sweden, said he was lucky to be alive.

The sex creep spent 15 panic-breathless minutes sandwiched between the floor and wrecked bed, which crashed down like a ton of bricks when the weight he had planned to attack — roly-poly Marita Elmquist — turned in for the night.

"The intruder was hiding under the bed, preparing for the assault, when Miss Elmquist sat down and broke the bed — frame, springs and all," said Baggi Thenander, a detective with the Goteborg police department.

"It's really a miracle that the thing broke just when it did. Lofgren is a violent man with a history of crimes against women.

"If he had gotten out and grabbed her, nothing short of a bullet would have stopped him."

Miss Elmquist, 38, told police and reporters that she had an idea a stranger was in her apartment when she walked through the door and got ready to hit the sack after a long day of working in a department store.

"I just went in and fell back on the bed because my feet were killing me," she said.

"Suddenly, there was a crash the thunder when the whole house and everything, me included, crashed to the floor.

"By the time I got to my feet I could hear muffled cries coming from the bed. When I lifted up the mattresses and saw a man I screamed and then jumped back on top of the white dress.

"I didn't move until the police got there to help."

Det. Thenander said Lofgren was unconscious by the time officers arrived.

After a few desperate minutes, however, they managed to revive him.

He was admitted to the hospital in serious but stable condition and will probably remain there for at least a week before he can be jailed on charges of illegal entry and attempted rape, the cop said.

In spite of her ordeal, Miss Elmquist still had her sense of humor.

"I have been thinking about going on a diet for the last 10 years," she said. "Thank God I didn't."

Breast cancer shocker!

Gals whose family has a history of breast cancer face a higher risk of getting the disease themselves — but new studies show this higher risk disappears by the time the women are in their 60s.

Researchers David Eastman and colleagues say the extra risk is highest for women 30 to 34 years old whose mother, sister, grandmother or aunt had had breast cancer. They were nearly four times as likely to get breast cancer as other women of that age, but to age 80 they were on a par with other women.

Blade plunges into his brain — but he's okay!

THE LUCKIEST KID IN THE WORLD

By CAN EBEASSIN

A kitchen knife thrown by one of Gunay Yinelek's pals sliced through his skull and stuck in his brain, but the schoolboy miraculously lived to tell about it!

"We were afraid to touch the knife for fear we would make the injury worse," said the 9-year-old boy's mother, who rushed him to a hospital in Izmit, Turkey, with the knife still in his head.

"He was very frightened and in agony but he was very brave. He remained conscious through the whole ordeal."

Doctors spent more than an hour removing the knife from the boy's head and patching the wound. They said the blade hit the brain "just right" and would cause no permanent damage.

HOSPITAL PHOTOS show knife specialist protruding from the head of 9-year-old Gunay Yinelek. At left, the fortunate boy holds the blade surgeons removed from his brain.

73-YEAR-OLD JFK PHOTOGRAPHED IN

SECRET PHOTO of JFK and Jackie, taken in 1971 and proving that Kennedy didn't die in Dallas, was obtained by The NEWS and published in its edition of Nov. 6, 1990.

Former President John F. Kennedy has returned to the United States to advise President George Bush on the crisis in the Middle East and we've got a photo of him in the White House to prove it!

The dramatic picture taken January 3 clearly shows the elderly, white-haired Kennedy peering from a window on 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue and the implications are shockingly clear.

Kennedy, who survived the attempt on his life in Dallas, has courageously decided to risk both his life and career to serve the country he abandoned in 1963.

"John Kennedy may be the only man on Earth who can see this country through the crisis in the Middle East and he's risking everything — even his life — to get the job done," said one highly placed White House source.

"The Secret Service has done everything possible to keep his presence in Washington a secret. But the camera doesn't lie. He's in the White House advising President Bush and the whole damn world is going to know it."

The NEWS blew the lid off the Kennedy assassination hoax in a blockbuster report last August. The story was based on an unsolicited letter from Dr. Sonya Fiorn, who claims to have been Kennedy's personal physician from 1963 to 1969.

THE NEWS first broke the story that the former President is alive last August.

The neurosurgeon said that Kennedy survived an assassin's bullets, fled the United States and moved to Poland where he remained cosmetic and secret, though crippled, for the past 27 years.

The photographer who snapped the picture of Kennedy has asked to remain anonymous to avoid government reprisals.

He did say that he had "a gut feeling" the 35-year-old ex-President would return to the U.S. after Saddam Hussein invaded Kuwait — so he stalked out the White House to get the picture where he did.

Photo experts consulted by The NEWS agree that the photo of Kennedy at the White House has not been altered or retouched in any way.

And while government officials refuse to comment on the photo or allegation that Kennedy is advising Bush, the White House source confirmed that he has consulted with the President by phone and in person every day since his arrival.

"I don't know the details and I wouldn't divulge them if I did because this is a matter of national security," said the source. "I will say that I feel more comfortable with Kennedy back in the White House. Bush is a brilliant man but he needs all the help he can get to bring this crisis to an end."

A key question is whether Kennedy will go public now that his cover is blown.

"I can't speak for Mr. Kennedy," said the source. "But great leaders like him are few and far between. In my heart, I hope and pray that he does."

Angry driver beats teen to death after egg attack, say cops

By JACK ALEXANDER
Staff writer

An enraged motorist chased a group of teens who tossed an egg at his Cadillac — and beat one of them to death with his fists.

"Call your punk friend an ambulance. He's going to need one," the motorist driver told friends of Timothy Dupuzzie, 18, whom he had just pounded to a pulp.

Dupuzzie died trying to protect one of his buddies who was attacked by the angry motorist in a park on Malden, Mass.

The dead teen's pals said they had been pelting each other with shaving cream and eggs when an egg accidentally hit the side of the motorist's car.

Cops said the driver jumped out and chased the teens across the park. He slammed one of the youths against a fence, injuring his eye. That's when Dupuzzie tried to protect his friend.

"This guy (the motorist) turned his anger on Dupuzzie, punched him a number of times, and slammed him against a metal pole," according to Police Lt. Ken Coyle.

Dupuzzie lapsed into unconsciousness after the brief beating and died of severe head trauma nearly 24 hours later in a hospital.

Cops have charged Dennis S. Morrone Jr., 19, with manslaughter in connection with the beating of Dupuzzie.

MOPPING-MAD Dennis Morrone chased a gang of neighborhood teens after they pelted his Caddy with eggs and pounded one of the kids to a pulp, according to police in Malden, Mass.

'My roly-poly bride is FLABULOUS!'

Hubby vows: I'll divorce tubby wife if she diets!

HAVE ANOTHER piece of pizza — please! Hub-happy hubby Ron Chandler wants his heavy honey Annie to keep her curves forever.

By JOE BERGER
Special correspondent

Blubber-loving hubby Ron Chandler made his beefy bride Annie take an astonishing marriage vow — that she'd never spoil her fabulous physique by going on a diet!

"I'm dead nervous about that," said roly-poly Ronnie, 38. "I just don't fancy skinny girls.

"I told Annie I loved her just the way she is and I made her promise me she'd never, ever quit eating. I told her if she starts slimming down I'm going to pack my bags and hit the road."

The chubby hubby — all 5 feet-6, 182 pounds of him — is a Big Mac-gobbling security chief for the McDonald's hamburger chain in Watagreen, England.

He met his meaty 189-pound missus when she answered his lonely hearts ad seeking "a plump lady for happy friendship."

"I was crazy about Annie from the moment I set eyes on her." the divorced dad recalled. "She's sweet, she's intelligent, and she has that cuddly figure that drives me wild.

Ladies with meat on their bones always make better lovers."

The pizza-parlor rendezvous dated for four food-filled years before finally wedding arm in arm down the aisle.

"When Ronnie popped the question, I was delighted, of course," said ample Annie, 40.

"He said he wouldn't marry me unless I vowed to go on eating and never start on one of those stupid slimming diets. I knew he meant it. But that's no sacrifice for me. I couldn't live with a man who wanted to reshape me in the image of a movie star. I just love to eat."

And now, the fish-happy hubby and his wide-bodied bride are planning a belated honeymoon filled with sunshine and second helpings.

"We're going to eat our way across Spain," Annie said.

NEWFOUND KILLER DISEASE MUST BE STOPPED, OR . . .

Mummies' deadly plague will kill US ALL

KILLER disease from mummified corpses has already killed 13 people, say shocked scientists.

By TOM ALLEN
Special to The NEWS

. . . warns top scientist

Waves of panic have swept through scientific circles after a top archaeological team revealed that mummies they uncovered in Siberia contain living plague bacilli that could wipe out all mankind!

The antibiotic-resistant plague has already killed 13 workers involved in excavating the mummies, and two others are in critical condition, according to papers published by the team — three archaeologists, a paleontologist and a microbiologist from the Ukrainian Academy of Sciences.

"The deadly bacilli are close relatives of the same bubonic plague bacilli that wiped out as many as 5,000 people a day in ancient Rome," Dr Anatoly Verbrazhensky, leader of the elite quarterly. "The disease can be spread from person to person like a common respiratory ailment. This is very serious — very dangerous."

The archaeological team began working on a dig outside Surgut in Western Siberia in early 1989, when preliminary discoveries led them to the site of a ruined village dating from the mid-1700s.

In August of this year the workers uncovered a mass grave containing more than 70 bodies, some in a remarkably well-preserved state.

"The corpses were mummified by the cold dry climate of the area and there had been varying degrees of deterioration," Dr. Verbrazhensky reported. "A few still had their hair and skin.

Alexei Belov, found them to be in such excellent condition that tissue samples were taken and dissections were done.

"Apparently these procedures allowed the spread of a disease which had been the cause of the mummies' deaths — a deadly plague that kills mercilessly."

Within a few days of the mummies' discovery, three workers came down with a mysterious illness that affected the lungs.

One was dead within 24 hours, by which time another four victims showed evidence of the disease.

The stricken workers were rushed to hospitals, where tests showed them to be suffering from an unusual plague-like disease which was resistant to all known antibiotics.

Victims were placed in quarantine — but it was too late to save their lives or halt the spread of the disease.

"Although the most scrupulous pains have been taken to contain the bacilli, the disease struck two medical workers and six more members of the archaeological team," Dr. Verbrazhensky said.

"And because a number of people who were with us on the dig have returned home to cities all over the USSR, we are now very concerned that the deadly bacilli may have spread to areas outside our control.

"This is a terribly dangerous disease that must be stopped quickly or we may not be able to halt it at all."

No more starvation diets for me!

I lost 75 pounds with the help of EASY GLIDER

What you see above is an illustration of actual footage you've seen of Keith on TV showing his dramatic 75 pound weight loss. How did he do it? Simple! "I lowered my calorie intake by reducing fat and sugar and glided away the pounds on my Easy Glider while watching football!" Keith Allen*

You've starved yourself on a 1000 calorie a day diet, suffered brutal hunger pangs...and all you've lost is the will to go through it all for one more day.

Well, cheer up! Now there's a better way to take off that extra weight. And all it takes is just a little determination...and Easy Glider!

The secret is Easy Glider—the exercise that can help you lose 10...20...even 75 pounds—while watching TV!

You can lose weight on your own schedule...even while listening to the news or watching TV! Just make up your mind to lower your calorie intake by eating fewer fats and sugars. And then, step on the glider pads, set the tension control for desired resistance, and you're all set the road to fitness and a slim, toned body.

Better than bikes...racquetball...even jogging!

An aerobic workout on Easy Glider is one of the most efficient ways to burn up calories and achieve total fitness. It simulates cross-country skiing, which many experts tell us is the world's #1 fitness exercise. Easy Glider's continuous motion motivates your aerobic heart rate, unlike racquetball's start and stop workout.

Exercise bikes focus on the lower body while Easy Glider works all the major muscle groups, including arms, legs, shoulders, buttocks and even your stomach. Its smooth, fluid, gliding action makes it far less stressful on the body than jogging. This one simple exercise strengthens the heart, tones the muscles, burns calories and improves stamina.

Easy Glider gives YOU the workout...not your wallet!

Best of all, you can lose weight...without paying the high price! Easy Glider is priced at an amazing $59.85...a real bargain when you consider that other ski simulators cost as much as $500. How can we do it? Quite simply. Easy Glider is a model of efficiency. Thousands of hours were spent on its design and engineering. The roll-forward track lasts will take years of use. The result: a superior product at a fraction of the price!

Try it for 60 days at no risk—see yourself the weight loss for yourself!

Remember...Keith Allen lost an amazing 75 pounds by watching what he ate and gliding away the pounds on his Easy Glider. Now it's your turn!

You risk nothing when you order. As a credit card customer, your credit card will be billed in 3 easy payments of just $19.95 each. We won't bill your final payment until you've tried Easy Glider for 60 days. If you don't see weight and fitness benefits, you can return it within 60 days for a full refund (minus shipping and handling)—no questions asked. Plus, Easy Glider is covered by a 1 year limited warranty on parts.

So why starve yourself one day longer? Lose 25...50...75 pounds the effective and convenient way—right on your own schedule—when you order Easy Glider Today!

Medicine man's bizarre headache remedy that DIDN'T work!

Sick man buried alive by wacky witch doctor

By JOE BERGER

Dumbo witch doctor Dochendee Damanka buried sickly Sichemo Kaluwe alive, promising him the ordeal would make a new man of him — then danced and chanted around the grave while his patient suffocated under six feet of earth and rock, police said.

Lawmen in the African nation of Zambia have ordered the daffy doc to stand trial for murder in the bizarre tragedy.

"It is an outrage for someone to die in such a senseless, horrifying way," said Western Province Police Chief Edward Mwanamambwa.

Witch doctors rank to be allowed to engage in their death dealing practices without regard to the law or common sense.

Kaluwe's grieving kin said the 26-year-old rapper asked relief on the voodoo doc after suffering headaches and fatigue for several weeks.

"We pleaded with him to see a real doctor, but he said he didn't trust them," said the dead man's dad Sichemo Kaluwe Sr.

"Sichemo believed the magic had made him well before and it could make him well again.

"He was all in such a rush — and that's the last we ever saw of him."

The magistrate's quack convinced Kaluwe he could bury him under a mound of earth and then raise him from the dead, investigators said. "The witch doctor and his colleagues wrapped the poor man in a blanket, had him in the grave and shoveled dirt over him," the police chief said.

"Then they beat their drums and danced and howled around him for an hour. But when they uncovered him, he was dead."

The victim's furious kin notified police, who charged the witch doctor with murder.

"We want to execute him and see whether he can bring himself back from the dead," said Kaluwe's weeping wife.

WACKY WITCH doctor's grave methods made headlines around the world

The year's most boring celebs — with stars like these, who needs sleeping pills?

The yearly roundup of most boring celebrities yields this crop of sleep-inducing stupor stars.

Alan Caruba, founder of The Boring Institute, says "1990 slid its slimy, sleazy way into the gutter as many of the so-called glitterati demonstrated colossal vulgarity." The annual list is based on massive media over-exposure.

● Donald Trump — "The Donald, noted financial genius, couldn't pay his bills this year or make a deal with Ivana." And his fat head was in the papers every day.

● Madonna — "The world's worst role model for a generation of 'wannabes.' The Media Madonna Watch was relentless, recording every vulgar opinion, fashion and gyration."

● 2 Live Crew — "Too lewd. Too crude. Too rude. Where's Pat Boone when you really need him?"

● Roseanne Barr — "Off-screen as much fun as a three-car accident. A pox on the media for fawning over this beached whale."

● Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles — "Enough already! Once just cute cartoon characters. Now they're just an excuse to sell anything and everything."

● New Kids on the Block — "Teenage Mutant Singers."

● Warren Beatty — "Much less boring when he wasn't giving interviews. As for Dick Tracy, just take the money and wobble."

● Simon O'Connor — "If you like bald, amoreair singers with a bad attitude, you'll love Simon!"

She's been DUMPED once too often

Joan Collins: I've had it with men!

TV bitch Joan Collins has been burned by the flame of love for the last time. The aging sex queen has renounced men — now that her latest toyboy lover, Robin Hurlstone, unceremoniously dumped her!

"I've had enough from men. From now on, I want neither husbands nor long-term lovers," says jilted Joanie.

"I'm going to live the rest of my life alone, devoting myself entirely to my work."

At 57 Collins is still one of the [illegible] the world — but when it comes to men, hoo-boy, is the unlucky.

"Joan has had enough of men taking advantage of her good nature," says a close friend of the actress.

"She's been burned once too [illegible] a loving, open woman — totally unlike the characters she plays. But obviously she hasn't had very much luck with men. As Joan told me: 'I've closed the book on love.'"

So after three marriages and dozens of romances — including Warren Beatty, Ryan O'Neal, Harry Belafonte and Richard Burton — Collins has decided to go it alone. — News Extra Fishing Breakthrough Catches Too Many Fish... Banned In Some States!!!

AS SEEN ON TV

After years of research and development by a multi-billion dollar corporation, a fishing device has been developed that actually works TOO well. It's called the FISHTECH 2000 and is so effective, that it has actually been granted more than ten worldwide patents. Unlike other fish attractants that may only get the attention of a single fish, the incredible FISHTECH 2000 actually draws the ENTIRE SCHOOL of fish to you line!

UNBELIEVABLE EXPERIENCE

Here's how it works. FISHTECH 2000 is a slender 1¼ inch stick that is attached to any fishing line, approximately 2 inches above your hook or lure. Using a highly sophisticated new technology known as "Chemiluminescence", this device shoots an unbelievably brilliant beam of green light piercing through even the murkiest water. Within seconds, the nearest [illegible] is surrounding your line fighting to get at your bait or lure. The results are absolutely amazing! Just look at these unbelievable real life experiences:

"One August day I was trolling for King salmon on Lake Huron. A friend of mine gave me a package of [Fishtech devices] to try out. I started trolling one hour before daylight. I trolled with 4 lines. On 2 of these lines I attached the [Fishtech devices]. We landed 8 Kings ranging from 9 to 18 lbs., all on the 2 lines with [Fishtech]. The other 2 lines only had 2 strikes, we missed both fish. Thanks to your product, my son and I had a great fishing trip."

J.B. - Milford, MI

"I've been fishing for more than 35 years. The new [Fishtech 2000] are sure a shot in the arm for the old sport. They're a fisherman's dream. I used them for ice fishing. [Put one Fishtech device on my line.] 16 good eaters in less than one hour. Best was smelting. Tied some [Fishtech] devices to the nets. Dropped the nets into the dark waters... and whamo. Over 900 smelts and 3 salmon in ½ hour.

D.U. - Clare, IL

Reports are coming in from across the nation of unheard of fishing experiences. What's more, the amazing FISHTECH 2000 is probably the only attractant that can be used on ALL species of fish. From deep sea fishing off the coast of Bermuda, to fresh water fishing for trout and bass. FISHTECH 2000 will catch more fish than you've ever dreamed about!

ENVIRONMENTALLY SAFE

FISHTECH'S incredible brightness is generated by a technologically advanced process in which two non-toxic ingredients interact within a confined hollow 1¼ inch tube. The [illegible] process is activated by flexing the tube and lasts for about 4 hours. It is completely non-toxic and safe to the environment.

FISHTECH 2000 is so effective that it has actually been barred for use in the pursuit of gamefish in some states (Minnesota and Wyoming) and parts of Canada. Some officials feel that the use of this [illegible] gives the leisure fisherman too much of an advantage. They are however used regularly for commercial fishing (99.9% of all Swordfish caught in this country are caught using a FISHTECH [illegible] type device) and are absolutely LEGAL in most of the country.

BEST FISHING DAY

Try the amazing FISHTECH 2000 for yourself. If you don't have the best fishing day you've ever had in your life, we'll gladly refund your money. Also we'd like you to write to us about your fishing experience with FISHTECH 2000 for use in future ads. Thanks for your order and good fishing!

Living high on the hog

By JIM GRAHAM
Staff writer

Oinker experts say pigs are the happiest animals on [illegible]

Life for the swine is simply divine. In fact, pigs are a heckuva lot happier than people, oinker experts say.

"A hog wallowing around in some nice cool mud with a full trough of food in front of him is probably the most contented animal on earth," claims noted German researcher Dr. Siegbard Krieghoff.

"Pigs don't have many needs to contend with and they never ever spend a moment worrying about World War 3.

"When was the last time you heard of a pig dropping dead from job-related stress?"

Krieghoff and his wife Eva, animal husbandry specialists in Munich, spent four years studying the lives and loves of 2,000 assorted porkers.

They became so immersed in their work that at one point they had 16 of the sweet-natured critters living with them — in a tiny, two-bedroom apartment.

"It got extremely crowded, but they are actually very clean animals once you get them out of the mud," Eva Krieghoff said.

"They were all thoroughly housebroken and we got to be the best of friends."

The Krieghoffs undertook their study to find out how farmers could bring even more joy into their pigs' happy-go-lucky lives — and hopefully rake the stakers into producing bigger ham hocks and juicier pork chops, they told the Germ-Texas journal Agrarkultura.

And they learned that pigs are really in hog heaven when they have toys to play with.

"They love to have beach balls and other rubber toys to bat around," Krieghoff said.

"It removes the boredom and eases their aggressions so they have less need to fight with each other."

But toys or no toys, porkers are the most blissful beasts in the barnyard, the researchers said.

"Other domestic animals become extremely petulant, but not the contented pig," Krieghoff said.

"All in all, you and I should be as happy as a hog."

Grieving hubby got drunk and mowed down another man's wife

Grief-stricken Nicholas Guthrie was so devastated over the death of his wife that he went on a drinking binge — and killed another man's wife with his car!

By MARTHA ATKINS

The tragedy occurred just two months after the heartbroken hubby lost his wife Stella in a wreck accident. She was killed after being mowed down by a taxi.

Now the anguished man is not only burdened by the loss of his beloved wife but he also has to face the guilt of killing another man's bread-and-butter.

The crash occurred after the Peterough, England, man borrowed a car from one of his servants. He crashed headon into 50-year-old Mary Davies, who was bicycling to work.

Then instead of stopping, the inebriated driver drove off in another car and ended up abandoning the car after running into a post. When cops caught up with him, a breath test showed he had nearly three times the legal limit of alcohol in his system.

In court, Guthrie admitted to causing death by reckless driving. He was sentenced to two years in jail and banned from driving for five years.

Bungling bandits set off worldwide SOS

Burglars who broke into a life raft factory in Denmark accidentally tripped an emergency transmitter on one of the rafts — touching off an international distress signal!

Jet pilots intercepted the signal at 30,000 feet and reported it to the air-sea rescue station in Stockholm, Sweden.

The Stockholm station couldn't locate the source of the signal and alerted Norway's main search center, which eventually traced the signal to the life-raft factory in Esbjerg.

Cops rushed to the factory, where they found a smashed

Skin Discovery Can Make Women Look Up To 10-20 Years Younger– Without Pills, Make-up or Surgery– Inside of 2 Minutes.

Leading New York doctor joins with famous beauty expert to document "automatic" effect of X100-FL in enabling people to reduce their facial age [redacted] These experts now expect that up to 8 million women will use this skin treatment within the next three years.

Robin Thayer, famous skin care expert and television celebrity, appears in New York with audience who have benefited from the amazing cosmetic miracle of X100-FL. "The secret, Audrey only 2 hours of to give a young appearance," says Mr. Thayer.)

NEW YORK, NY (for immediate release) —A historic beauty breakthrough has now been made public. A noted New York Park Avenue medical doctor and a famed beauty expert have developed a treatment that enables people to look younger in hours.

Called the X100-FL, this treatment has already been seen by millions of viewers on national television. And doctors at a respected university are using it to make their patients look better.

The power of X100-FL can be easily and dramatically demonstrated immediately following a 10-second application. It has been shown to reduce a person's observable facial age by up to 10-20 years.

A reversal of the effects of aging on facial skin—the removal of lines, wrinkles, creases, etc.—has been one of the most sought-after goals of American adults in the last decade. Years of clinical studies and applied programs conducted at esteemed medical centers, cosmetic laboratories and teaching hospitals have focused on enabling people to maintain youthful skin.

X100-FL now enables people to look younger with a single two-minute treatment.

This advanced treatment secret is now being released to adult men and women of all ages. (Because of its safety, a doctor's prescription is not necessary.)

Aging signs vanish in minutes

According to beauty expert Mark Thayer, "People will be amazed at how X100-FL changes their appearance for the better. Within minutes, it actually takes years and years off a person's facial appearance. Many times I've watched people apply it, then enter a state of actual disbelief and exhilaration when they look in the mirror and see how young they look."

Here's what you can expect to happen

When you use the X100-FL, you can immediately expect lines and creases to be eliminated from your face. . . the skin around your eyes to be smoothed and the circles and rings beneath your eyes to [illegible] younger. And yet you will look absolutely [illegible] and of course, no Plastic Surgeon fee.

Millions of viewers see this major breakthrough on national television

In a live demonstration on network TV, viewers all over America were able to see the X100-FL in action.

Women on TV who were given the product dramatically improved their appearance. The faces of these women actually became SPECTACULARLY YOUNG! It was as if they had reversed the aging process, and turned back their biological clocks.

Most subjects actually look younger in just 2 minutes

A group of beauty experts were brought together to determine exactly how quickly the X100-FL enabled people to look younger. They carefully analyzed the observable results of X100-FL on facial aging. Several adult females volunteered to take part in the visual study.

According to the panel of experts, the results of using X100-FL were immediately apparent. Within minutes after first being given X100-FL, every member of the panel took on a noticeably younger facial appearance.

What happened next was this:

A close professional appraisal of each one shot of X100-FL showed a noticeable difference in appearance in five minutes.

Each woman looked between 5 and 10 years younger (and more attractive) 2 minutes from the time X100-FL first went on.

Right now, the reader who sees this notice has the advantage of receiving the X100-FL secret right from its creators. And all starting to enjoy the same youthful effect the volunteers experienced.

Salon treatment to get effect of X100-FL would cost $200.00

X100-FL is an effective, people who want to attain youthful complexions and look younger usually should use it.

The creators of X100-FL have been advised to permit beauty salons to market this special treatment, establishing a price for X100-FL of approximately $200.00.

This "luxury" price was arrived at because a salon treatment simulating the effect of X100-FL would cost at least $200.00.

The creators of X100-FL decided against a luxury price because they want every person who needs this remarkable product to be able to obtain it. So for the first time, they have put the entire secret into a economic report—and are making it fully available to you.

To receive X100-FL and lower your Observable Facial Age, read this:

Readers of this notice are given the following instructions by Mark Thayer:

"Write to us at the Claudia Michel Beauty Center, to get the X100-FL secret. That way you can use the treatment to look up to 10-20 years younger."

"Simply send your name and address to: Claudia Michel Center, Dept. SD-16E, 3375 Park Avenue, Wantagh, NY 11793. Enclose just $14 plus $2 for postage (total $212, and make check or money order payable to "Claudia Michel Center." Win a rocket ride into space — on a Russian rust bucket!

I get madder than a brain surgeon in a stalled golf cart the other day when I read about a wacky new sweepstakes that lets the winner take a trip in space.

Space Travel Services Corp. in Houston. Texas is putting up a phone line that lets you call in to enter. The only catch is that the lucky winner gets to take a rocket ride all right — in Russia's Soyuz spacecraft.

Let's face it, the Russian boobies are broke and everybody knows it. So how on earth are they keeping their rocket ships in top-flop shape with no money? They don't, that's how.

I'll personally guarantee you this Russian spacecraft hasn't had a tune-up in 200,000 miles. For Pete's sake, Worth from the old shotgun. And I wouldn't trust the bozhos worth a hoot.

The unsuspecting sap's are probably falling off and the radiation's held on with boiling wax. The day you get yours truly in your Russian rust bucket is like a ride through space on the sky-ee wife Thelma Jean ought to call the dunk in the white room.

I'll bet the same thing even needs a paint job for rotting out loud. I'd trust a Soviet spaceship about as far as I'd trust one of those rattletraps those guys call cars.

They'll roo-wish to go from here to eternity real quick go ahead and get strapped inside one of those Russian tin cans and blast off.

Just make sure your life insurance is paid up.

Everybody knows those crazy cosmonauts who'll be driving the thing wouldn't care less if they ever get back.

The Russians are so broke they'll probably use regular rocket gas instead of the premium stuff we use in our space shuttle.

And the last people I'd trust to put one in outer space are those broke-up commie nerds.

Even if you did make it all the way out to Russia's MIR space station, you'll probably find the electric company has shut off the lights in the dump 'cause they can't pay their own bills.

But if you still want to spend a fun-packed week aboard this Russian rocket, here's all you have to do:

Just call 1-900-226-6969 to enter at $2.99 a jump.

This space vacation outfit claims everyone's odds are much better than the ride of a lifetime — even if they do come back baked.

Japanese scientists CLONED a living being, geneticist charges

Dr. Masao Narita

By JOHN LEE

In a nightmarish genetic experiment, Japanese scientists cloned a living creature from the cells of an ancient human brain, a prominent geneticist has charged.

Dr. Masao Narita said the creature was cloned in a Tokyo research facility early last August and lived for eight weeks before its defective heart stopped beating.

Creature survived eight weeks!

Although it looked something like a human fetus, he added, it was deformed. In addition to having a misshapen head, twisted torso and single leg, it had fallen eyes, six fingers on each hand and nearly transparent skin.

"It was truly a monster," said the geneticist, who declined to name the lab off the secret experiment because "it represents a serious breach of medical ethics" that he could no longer condone.

Narita said the scientists faked paternity in their attempt to clone a human creature from the same perfectly preserved brain that was found frozen in the Peruvian Alps last June.

"They used human sperm from living bacteria," he continued.

"The being was spawned in a test tube and grew at rapidly as a fetus in an artificial womb. It died after eight weeks.

"That creature wasn't entirely human — but it surely had a human soul."

Ex-model will wed the man she thought was her long-lost brother

By CHERYL FOX
Special correspondent

Lonely Alice Playfair was delighted when searchers told her they'd found her long-lost brother.

But the melancholy mum was even more ecstatic when she and handsome George Wass learned they weren't related after all — and decided to tie the knot.

"This is a miracle. It's really turned my life around," said the beaming bride-to-be.

"I'm just thankful we found out the truth before I spread the rest of my days giving George sidelong pecks on the cheek."

The bizarre tale of tragedy and true love began [illegible] Alice's husband Aubrey murdered their youngest daughter, then committed suicide.

In her moment of grief the former model asked the Salvation Army's missing persons staff to help her locate the brother she hadn't seen since her parents divorced 40yrs then three decades before.

"It was a very trying time for me," said Alice. "I felt so helpless and alone. I guess I was looking for someone to share my sorrow."

When the Salvation Army double-teamed up George, they were convinced they'd found their man. His parents had the same names as Alice's — and incredible, both couples had split up on the very same day. The delighted duos travelled from London for a very tearful reunion with George at his home in Basildon, Maitland.

But the minute Alice laid eyes on the rugged brother, she knew her feelings were far from naturly. "It was love at first sight," she said. George, 40, was just as smitten. And before long these forbidden lovebirds were more than they could bear.

"I don't think you're my sister and I'm not prepared to be married to sister every time I see you," George told Alice.

The couple launched their own investigation — and discovered they weren't related at all. The clincher came when Alice showed her mum a photo of George's dad. "I don't know that man," her mother said.

George left his wife and three kids and moved in with his stated fiancee. They plan to wed as soon as his divorce comes through.

"It was such a relief when we realized the Salvation Army had made a mistake," said Alice, 58.

"Now they're on the trail of my real brother, and I hope to God they find him."

It was love at first sight for both of [redacted]

LOVEBIRDS Alice Playfair and George Wass were delighted to learn that they aren't brother and sister after all.

Improve your whole life — by NOT using these 8 words!

By TONI D'AMATO

Stop using eight words and you'll change your life for the better, says a leading psychiatrist.

The words are: try, always, never, is, can't, should, everybody and nobody — words loaded with negative emotions and attitudes.

"These words trigger feelings of anxiety, disappointment, hopelessness and depression," said Dr. James Hodge. "Used repeatedly, they become a kind of barrier between you and your chances for happiness.

● TRY. This word implies failure. "It's an excuse to allow yourself and others to get away with not doing something," said Dr. Hodge. "Substitute 'I will' for 'I'll try' and you'll find you accomplish more."

● ALWAYS and NEVER. These two favorite words of "non-thinkers" rigidly rigid interpretations and leave no room for change, he said. "Substitute words such as 'sometimes' or 'rarely.'"

● IS. This describes someone in an unchangeable way, such as "Johnny is lazy" or "Mary is selfish," he said. "Instead, choose action words that place a time limit on negative descriptions — such as 'Johnny was lazy last week' or 'Mary selfishly ignored my feelings at the party.'"

● CAN'T. This is a word of permanent defeat that leaves you no room to improve, said Dr. Hodge.

"Change your 'can't' statements to questions such as, 'How can I/he be good?'"

● SHOULD. This can make you feel guilty if there is something you tell yourself you should do but don't. "Do something or don't do it, but forget 'should,'" he said.

● EVERYBODY and NOBODY. "These words let you make unfair judgments about large groups of people. Replace them with 'some people I've met,'" he suggested.

1st person story by Todd Meinwering

I worked on an oil drilling crew out west. We drilled 12 wells one year, every one a gusher! Not that it matters a mite! Not on your life—I was paid by the hour and struggled to feed a growing family. That stirred me to thinking, 'Why should I do all the work while someone else gets all the gravy?'

About that time I got injured and ended up having to move my family to a different state to take a job as a maintenance mechanic. That idea of controlling my own destiny kept gnawing at me. By now I had five children with an expense of about $2,400 a year sending the oldest one to a speech and hearing center.

'How could a guy like me save up enough money to start my own business?' To get into most businesses you have to pay a owner of Fort Knox. It would only mean take a loan-type without giving up the regular salary I had to count on to put food on the table. And without making any investment. As long as I was dreaming, wouldn't it be great to find something where every single spare buck order would bring in really big extra money.

'Sound like the impossible dream? Well, I had seen a Pace Products story about a man who earned $4,164.85 on just one Seamless Spray order. And he didn't have to invest a penny. I sent for the free information. Believe me, when I received their literature and saw how easy their field-tested sales kit made everything—I knew it would all be more than just a dream. I decided to become a Pace distributor. And it was the best decision I ever made.

YOU NEED ABSOLUTELY NO EXPERIENCE

'Now I haven't mentioned anything about Pace—I've saved the best for last. As you know, it costs a fortune these days for schools, hospitals, plants and other commercial buildings to have roof contractors repair or re-do their roofs. Pace saves them that fortune—by passing the contractor. The building owner uses Pace's Seamless Spray process to apply Pace Roof Renewal Sealant right over the old roof. The cost is so low, the proven results so satisfactory for such well-known firms as General Motors, American Airlines, Holiday Inns and hundreds more, that there is little if any sales resistance.

'Pace ships the Pace Seamless Spray equipment on First Lease. The customer pays only for the roofing products Once Pace Hit-and-Run sales apply it. And the chamber—I would get my big commissions up front. Paid in advance. Weekly.

'With my mechanic's job, I was able to start out with Pace in my spare time. I didn't know a thing about roofs, but Pace told me everything I had to know. They showed me how easy it is to set up a business and keep it running profitably. So all I had to do was go out and find somebody with a leaky roof, and tell him about Pace products.

'Quite frankly, my first prospect didn't buy. But I made a sell for a school building with a roof the size of a football field. They called in the 'Busted Leaders,' because every time it rained they had to put out buckets — in classrooms, hallways, even the cafeteria — to catch the water. I got the job and made $7,700 on it.

'That school building is now high-fived for the first time in 25 years, as they had the do five other roofs with Pace's Seamless Spray. I was on my way. Today my family and I are enjoying a life we never thought possible before — all thanks to my accepting Pace's invitation to return that little coupon in the ad I read.'

Kidney patient hooked up to air conditioner!

By CARLO LANCIA

A kidney patient died when his dialysis machine was accidentially hooked up to a hospital air-conditioning system!

Hospital spokesman Erik Stampe said the patient, 23-year-old Paul Sedbourg, died when coolant from the air conditioner flowed into the pure water in the kidney dialysis system.

According to Stampe, the pipes of the air-conditioning system and the pipes of the dialysis machine were interconnected.

"A valve was supposed to keep the systems separate but it failed," said Stampe. "It's a tragedy beyond measure. And we've taken steps to ensure that something like this never happens again."

How to start your own business — with $1,000 or less

You can launch a new business on a shoestring budget if you follow a few common sense tips.

In fact, you can start a thriving new enterprise on less than $1,000 or spending is expert Rieva Lesonsky. Here are her tips:

✓ Choose a business that you can make into — one where you can start out small with as little risk as possible. A service-type business like housecleaning or a shopping service is ideal.

✓ Do not start a retail business because you don't have to rent a store or buy [illegible]. You can run a service-type business from your home, using only simple equipment such as a typewriter, adding stationery, perhaps a personal computer or basic fax machine.

✓ Do a lot of research before you start your business. Read everything you can about similar businesses. Talk to your neighbors to find out if they'd use your services or buy your product.

✓ Find a particular niche to fill into. Try to offer a service or product that nobody else in your area is offering — or at least one that will have as little competition as possible.

✓ Consider starting a business that fulfills your own needs.

For example, if you are a working woman who doesn't have time to clean house, and there are a lot of other women like yourself in the same situation, you could start a housecleaning service.

✓ Before you begin any business, get the advice of a good accountant who can advise you on the financial problems you'll be likely to encounter.

You could also contact the federally sponsored Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE), which gives free advice.

✓ Allocate your initial investment money carefully. If you plan to use $1,000 to start up don't spend it all at once.

It should cover your expenses for three or four months until your business gets off the ground.

HUGE beasts like these didn't become extinct millions of years ago — they are alive and thriving in the dense jungles of Borneo, say experts.

By KATHERINE ANN ROSS
Correspondent

Dinosaurs that roamed the Earth millions of years ago are still living today — in the darkest reaches of Borneo!

A scientific expedition that trekked into the country's forbidding jungle region has returned to civilization with incredible films and photographs of the monsters that thrived on Earth during the Mesozoic era.

"It was the greatest experience of my life and one that I shall never forget," said Dr Reto Treichler, a Swiss zoologist and co-leader of the 27-month expedition.

"It was like stepping instantly into the beginning of life on Earth. We came with our own eyes upon the creatures that ruled the Earth long before man.

"All of the dinosaurs are there in the jungle today — tyrannosaurus, brontosaurus, diplodocus, iguanodon, stegosaurus, triceratops. The most incredible creatures of the past living and breathing in the 20th century."

Only the shortest bits of information were released to the public when the 23-man expedition reported in triumph in the city of Kinabalu. Dr Treichler and co-leader Dr Konrad Gruber said further details will come after the films are studied and various specimens are analyzed.

"This is a monumental discovery," Dr Gruber said.

"The scientific principle must be served before anything else. The full story will be told publicly only at the proper time, not a minute before."

Dr Gruber refused to divulge the exact location of the area that he has labeled "The Land of the Dinosaurs," but he did reveal how the discovery came about.

Young mom killed and stuffed in chimney

By JACK ALEXANDER
Staff writer

Friends, relatives and even the cops were baffled after the corpse of a young mother was discovered — stuffed in a chimney.

The bloated body of Carol Marie Robinson, 30, apparently had been in the chimney of her Baxter apartment for several days.

"One thing we know for sure, she didn't climb in there by herself and die," said police spokesman Thomas Gentry.

But cops won't know the cause of death until they get a toxicology report from the medical examiner. No marks of violence — knife wounds, broken ribs or bullet holes — were found on the corpse.

"She could have been strangled, the victim of an overdose or perhaps she died of natural causes and somebody panicked," said a police spokesman. "But we're betting on foul homicide."

Landlord James Oliver opened the victim's apartment door at the insistence of her friends, who were concerned because they hadn't seen her for four days.

"We started searching around and the color girl stranger when we got closer to the chimney hole," Oliver said. "There it dawned on me and I said we'd better call the cops."

Police Capt. Hank Robinson ... the chimney to help control the ... and slide the small police said. The man ... then had been taken from the bed of the victim's four-year daughter, Jessica.

Close friend Keith Knight told cops he visited the victim's home the day she was last seen alive and found Jessica alone in the house.

Cops later arrested Knight on outstanding warrants for driving without a license and receiving stolen property — both unrelated to the young mother's death.

"Whoever killed her stuffed her into a hole we would it was unbelievable," said landlord Oliver. "I still don't understand how anyone could put a body in a hole that size."

Don't make blunder$ with your cash!

Six common money mistakes might cost you a bundle of bucks — but you can put yourself dollars ahead by following some sensible advice to correct these blunders, says a top financial planner.

Here — from Laurence Kotlikoff, author of Sleep Tight, Money — are the common mistakes and tips on how to avoid them.

● Not having a will. Don't delusion that your spouse or family will get everything if you die. Intestate laws are different in each state.

Everyone needs a will, and plenty of attorneys will write one at a low price. You should update your will after important changes in your life such as having a baby or getting married.

● Not paying off your credit cards. Interest rates on cards are too high. It doesn't make sense to keep money in a savings account earning 7 percent when you could use it to pay off card debts that carry an 18 percent interest charge.

● Not having an IRA. It's a good idea to put money into an IRA account every year, even if you earn too much to get a tax deduction for your contributions — because you'll still be able to avoid taxes on the interest the money earns until you retire.

● Not insuring your spouse. If only one person in your family handles all the money matters, family finances could turn into a disaster when that person dies or is hospitalized.

If you handle the bills and investments, make a list of all key information and explain it to your spouse.

● Not having savings. With, shit a bad egg, you might be forced to get a high-interest loan in an emergency.

But you can start saving for a rainy day — no matter how little you make — by pretending your rent or house payments went up slightly and putting aside that amount each week.

● Purchasing big-ticket items with features you don't need. If you buy a dishwasher loaded with options, but use only rinse and wash and dry cycles, you're wasting money.

Mad mom hits judge with rock

A mother who was angry over a custody dispute strolled into a courtroom, walked to within six feet of the judge's bench — and hit the judge in the face with a rock!

Manhattan Family Court Judge Leah Marks was treated for facial injuries after being bruised by a flat-sized rock thrown by Andelanda Delgado according to New York authorities.

Police said Mrs. Delgado was upset over a child custody case when she struck Judge Marks with a rock.

Court spokesman Mary de Bourbon said Mrs. Delgado entered the courtroom at about 11:30 a.m. She walked to within six feet of the judge's bench, then "all of a sudden she pulled out a flat-sized rock from under her clothing and hurled it at the judge."

Man's conviction undone — by anti-rape buttons

By JON BERGER

A Michigan man convicted of raping a 13-year-old girl had his conviction and 30-year prison sentence overturned — because spectators at his trial were large "Women Against Rape" buttons.

A federal appeals court in San Francisco ruled the buttons could have intimidated Robert Lee Nichols' right to a fair trial. Prosecutors may appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Hubby attacks wife — with ■ frozen turkey!

Late dinner put him in a FOWL mood, say cops

Super-hungry Scott Nelson got so mad when a turkey wasn't thawed out in time to cook it for dinner — that he attacked his wife with the frozen bird!

"He must have been in a fowl mood," laughed Major Brandon Clifton of the Midwest City, Okla., police department. "He just became irate because the turkey was still frozen in the early afternoon."

After discovering his big holiday feast was going to be late, the outraged hubby grabbed a pie and threw it outside in the parking lot of the apartment building where he lived with his 24-year-old wife Jackie. Then he grabbed the still frozen turkey and tossed it out after the pie.

"When he came back inside, he locked the door and told his wife that she wasn't going anywhere," said Maj. Clifton.

Somehow the frightened wife was able to muster up the couple's small child and escape outside to her car. But before Mrs. Nelson could make her getaway, her outraged hubby picked up the battered bird from the ground and threw it at the car in a fit of rage, said cops.

"He broke the windshield right out," said Maj. Clifton. "Then he physically pulled her out of the car and threatened to hit her with the bird."

Luckily, Nelson's wife was able to get away and drove to the police station where she had her husband charged with assault. At his court arraignment, Nelson, 28, pleaded not guilty to the assault and battery charges.

Dying student's heart heals miraculously

COLLEGE student Hagley Wiley gets a hug from his mom, Hilton Gilchrist, before he goes back to class at Alabama University.

A young college student was at death's door waiting for a heart transplant when he awakened one morning to discover his heart had miraculously healed itself.

. . . while he waits for a transplant!

Hagley Wiley's incredible recovery has baffled doctors, who had hooked him up to a machine that would help his heart do its job.

Doctors we have talked to know of no other documented case like it," said Wiley's mother, Hilton Gilchrist.

Wiley's life-threatening troubles began in August after he had attended class for two days at the University of Alabama.

"When I walked to class, I would feel short of breath. Like I was going to faint," he said.

"I progressed to where I couldn't able to lie down flat on my back without losing my breath."

When Wiley woke up with a 103-degree temperature one day, his mom took him to Decatur, Ala., to see Wiley's father, a physician, who examined him and found an irregularity in his son's heartbeat.

The young student's condition worsened and he was flown to a Birmingham hospital. Surgery was performed to do its job. Worried doctors said Wiley was suffering from profound circulatory failure. He needed a heart transplant.

"The doctors told us that had we waited to take Hagley to Birmingham he would have died," said Mrs. Gilchrist. "If the surgery had been delayed even an hour, my son wouldn't be alive today."

The search for a heart donor was in its 20th day when doctors noticed something extraordinary about Wiley's heart.

"His heart was getting stronger and stronger each day," said Mrs. Gilchrist. "The heart was doing its job with less and less help from the machine."

Wiley has regained much of the 15 pounds he lost and will return to the University of Alabama.

More people are flunking Bible IQ

The Bible is still the most widely read book in America, but more and more people don't know what's in it, says a new Gallup Poll.

The poll found that 17 percent of adults read the Bible daily and one in seven says it's the inspired word of God. But it is apparent that ignorance of the book's contents is widespread.

In 1963, only half of the adults interviewed nationally could name any of the four Gospels. Only 37 percent could name all four, compared with 42 percent

IS YOUR NAME HERE?

BELOW are the names of some of the most distinguished American families. Our research staff has, over a period of years, completed a manuscript history of each of these families. If your surname is listed you should have your manuscript. We believe you will find it not only of keen interest, but a source of pride and satisfaction for yourself and your kinsmen.

THESE FAMILY HISTORIES $30.00 EACH

Each manuscript is a GENEALOGICAL and HISTORICAL study of the family from earliest times. It records the origin and growth of the family in Europe, its place among the gentry there, its part in the early settlement and subsequent history of America, including service in the Revolutionary War and its numerous alliances and leading representatives in this country. The significance and meaning of the name is traced; recurrent family traits are brought out; and genealogical data on various lines are set forth. A valuable bibliography is included, as well as the authoritative description of a family coat of arms.

Each history is a separate and distinct work, prepared originally for this firm from the most authentic sources. Reproduced on fine paper and bound in a handsome black cover stamped in silver ink, it is suitably designed for filing among your family records or other documents.

If you order promptly we will also include, at no extra cost, our specially designed Ancestry Chart, handsomely 11 by 17 inches and contains space in which to set out the names of your ancestors in all lines for eight generations.

The coupon or a letter, with $30.00 (no other charges; NY State residents add appropriate sales tax), will bring you your manuscript and The Ancestry Chart. Any two manuscripts may be had for $50.00; any three for $75.00. Satisfaction is assured by our money back guarantee. Send for yours today.

Your popcorn's too pooped to pop? Your bread's dead on arrival?

FAST FIXES FOR FOOD FLOPS

– The hungry crowd is waiting but this isn't your day. The rice is burned, the salad greens are wilted, the bread is stale and — to top it off — the milk is soured.

Fear not, if you happen to have a copy of a fascinating book on goof-proof cooking that tells you how to rescue your ruined recipes and restore the freshness to items that have been around a little too long.

The book, How to Repair Food (Two Speed Press), is based on years of research by authors Marina and John Bear and is chock full of first-aid ideas for food flops. Here are some of their good ideas:

● Overcooked bread, scrambled or poached eggs: Keep right on cooking and use in place of hard-boiled eggs. Great in salads, on sandwiches and the like.

● Sour milk: Two teaspoons of baking soda added to a quart of sour-the-hell milk will have it tasting fine for another two days.

● Burned rice: Oops! Stick a heel of bread into the pot on top of your crispy rice.

Cover the pot and wait about five minutes for the end of the loaf to absorb the burned taste.

● Eggs stuck to the shell: Just wet the carton. The eggs will come out easily.

● Cloudy coffee: Eggshells added to cloudy coffee will clear it right up. And it's better salt a little salt to spark it up.

● Wilted salad greens: You can make them crisp again by dipping them in hot water for a second, then putting them in ice water to which a dash of vinegar has been added. Afterward, shake off excess moisture and chill in the refrigerator. If you haven't time for that, toss a few drops of oil onto the leaves to coat them so that the vinegar or lemon in your dressing won't wilt them further.

● Cookies stuck to baking sheet: Rest your baking tin over a hot burner on the stove or wrap the baking sheet with the stuck cookies in a towel while it's still hot from the oven and let it stand for about 5 minutes.

● Spilled egg: Salt up that splattered egg as soon as you can and wait about 30 minutes or so. The salt will absorb the egg and you can wipe it up easily with towels and dustpan.

● An overripe, mushy banana can be turned into a tasty drink by blending it with a cup of cold milk, an egg and a pinch of salt.

● Popcorn that won't pop: Just drop kernels in water for five minutes or so, drain and toss them in the popper. You can also freeze them for a day or store them in the freezer.

● Stale bread. You can bring it back to bakery-fresh by sprinkling ½ teaspoon of water on the bread and baking it for 10 minutes inside a paper bag at about 300 degrees.

Hold the surprise!

Surprise! Most folks — and women especially — would hate to have a surprise birthday party thrown in their honor!

A whopping 85 percent of Americans admit they'd be beat than chilled at the idea, according to a recent survey by Fireside Transworld Delivery (FTD).

Messes in Texas

Tens of thousands of Texans living along the Rio Grande are still using open pits as bathrooms and some travel 20 miles for a jug of fresh water, just like folks in the world's poorest countries.

A government probe of six counties on the Texas-Mexico border found 130,000 people living with substandard housing, inadequate roads and a lack of running water.

Sidewalk superstitions: what's behind them?

Amazon tribe worships A-bomb as a god!

SCIENTISTS found a huge Hiroshima-style nuclear bomb in the hands of South American natives, and are mystified as to how it got there.

By TOM ALLEN

A world-renowned scientist claims to have found a tribe of South American savages that worships an atomic bomb as its living god!

"It's like something out of a horror movie," Dr Orell Biland told newspaper reporters in Belo Horizonte and Sao Paulo, Brazil.

"These are primitive people who haven't even made it into the 20th century yet and here they are kneeling and praying to a nuclear warhead in the middle of the rain forest.

"There's no telling how the thing got there or who dropped it. The one thing I do know is that it's a live bomb and could vaporize those poor Indians and the jungle around them in an instant."

The Swiss archaeologist said he found the tribe and A-bomb while on an expedition in February.

He said he told the Brazilian government about the bomb on his return. But authorities will neither confirm nor deny that the matter is under investigation.

Nor will they comment on reports that Arab and European terrorists have chartered an all-out search for the deadly warhead so they can use it for their own evil purposes, the press said.

Dunbar Boyle, a Rio-based armaments expert, believes that the warhead — if it exists — is atomic.

"Based on Dr. Biland's description I'd say it was manufactured in the United States prior to 1960," he told reporters.

"You've all heard of the rumored that the U.S. military stockpiled bombs here in the 1940s and 50s.

"It's possible that this particular bomb was accidentally dropped in the jungle during transport, just like the well-heads found in Spain."

The expert was referring to the discovery of several American warheads off the coast of Spain.

Obvious dangers aside, Dr. Biland is planning to return to the Amazon rain forest to study and document the bomb tribe's strange new religion.

"This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to study the development of a primitive religion from its beginning," he said.

"The few days I spent with these people made it clear that this bomb cult is quite complex.

"At dawn and dusk the priests gather at the shrine they have erected to the bomb. Then they chant and dance around it, tapping it lightly with clubs and sticks."

Ironically, Dr. Biland said, the tribesmen are among the gentlest he has ever encountered in South America. "It's hard to believe that such kind and loving people could wor-

BIG fish in small bowl!

A trucker was charged with animal cruelty after cops discovered he kept his pet 22-inch catfish in an aquarium tank that was only 24 inches long

Man kept 22-inch catfish in 24-inch tank!

"The thing was so cramped in the tiny tank it could only flop its tail and couldn't swim," said a police spokesman in Marseilles, France.

Arrested on the charge was Roger Rothrop, who pleaded not guilty before Judge Gerard Vidal.

"I love that fish," said Rothrop. "The big guy is well fed. His tank is cleaned regularly. And once a week I turn him around in the tank so he can get a different view of the living room."

Rothrop, 38, said that he a year ago with a net and decided to have it as a pet instead of for dinner.

"The tank was adequate when I first brought him home, but he's grown so much," he said.

"I can tell when he's ready to be turned around. He bangs his body against the tank and looks up at me with those little eyes."

Rothrop was reported to an animal watchdog group who raided the cops.

The trucker tried to explain to the animal-loving do-gooders that he couldn't afford a larger tank, but they didn't believe him.

Judge Vidal ruled that it was cruel and inhumane to confine the fish to a tank so narrow and short that it couldn't flop he would probably quit now if wasn't a whole lot of fun being cooped up in that tiny tank," said the judge.

"The court is confiscating your fish, sir, and it is our order that it be set free in a nearby stream."

"We find you guilty as charged and fine you $200 to be paid within six months. And you are forbidden to keep a pet for one year."

You don't HAVE to be a crime victim

Six easy tips that could save your life!

You can dramatically reduce your chances of becoming a victim of crime if you take simple precautions to protect yourself, experts say.

Here are the tips, compiled by top law enforcement officials from around the country, to help you avoid becoming a casualty.

MUGGERS — Never open your purse or wallet in a crowded place. Don't carry a lot of cash. When you're walking, stay alert.

Notice if there's anyone who seems to be following you. If you think you're being followed, do anything to attract attention. Yell "Fire!" instead of "Help!" because a cry for help will often be ignored.

However, don't yell if you are actually being mugged, because this may further provoke your attacker. Give him what he wants — and try to remember what he looks like and what he's wearing.

Don't walk in dangerous neighborhoods, and do not take shortcuts through parks, tunnels, parking lots or alleys.

Walk along the outside of sidewalks near the curb, rather than close to doorways or alleyways.

PURSE SNATCHERS & PICKPOCKETS — Always hold your purse close to your body, under your arm. When shopping, don't leave your purse in a shopping cart, or lay it down while you try on clothes.

Don't carry a wallet in your back pocket. It's much safer to carry it in a side pocket.

BURGLARS — Keep a light on in your house at night whether you're away or at home asleep. Install deadbolt locks on doors and locks on windows.

Before you go away on vacation, temporarily discontinue your newspaper delivery and have a neighbor pick up your mail. Piled up papers or mail are a dead giveaway that nobody is at home.

MURDERERS — The FBI estimates 63 percent of murder victims know their killers, and one out of five are related to their murderers. When tempers flare, you could be killed by someone you love.

To prevent this from happening, if you have a weapon in the house keep the ammunition locked away, separate from the gun. Avoid heated arguments with your family. Leave the room or house until tempers are cooled.

AUTO THIEVES — Don't leave your keys in your car. Try to park only in well-lighted lots, and not in darkened side streets. Always roll your windows up real tight.

Never store spare keys anywhere in your car or in a hidden place on the car's exterior. Thieves know where to look.

RAPISTS — Don't let strangers into your house. Make sure a man who says he's a repairman shows you photo identification. Check your parked car before you get in. Keep car doors locked when you drive. And don't ever pick up strangers.

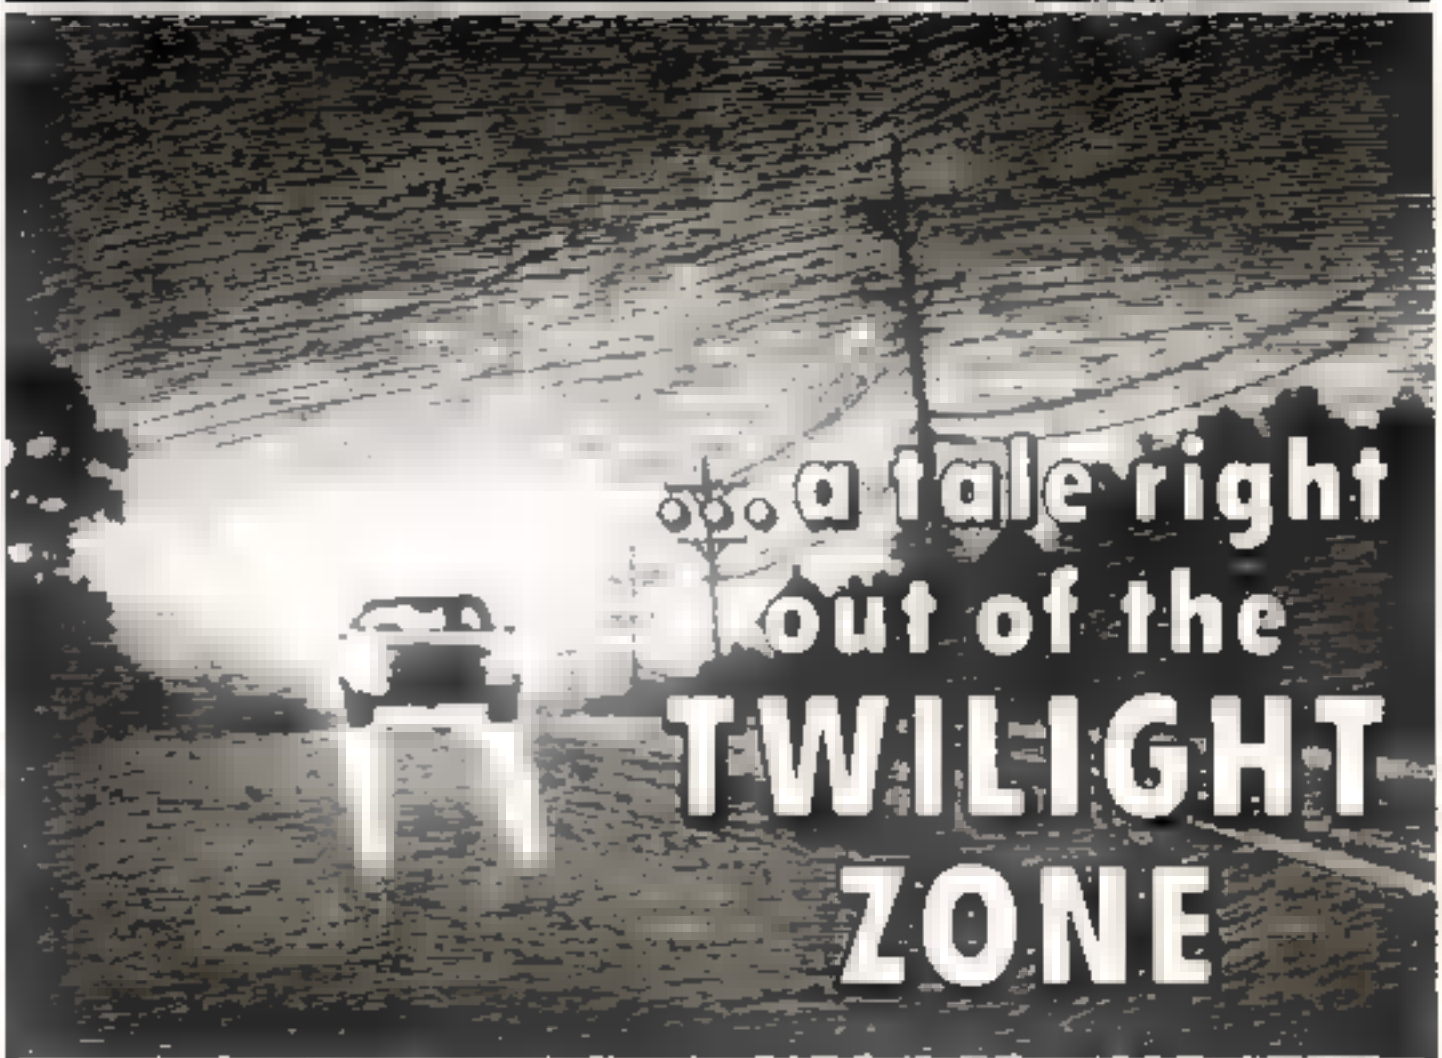
Mystery of the hitchhiking ghost



A college professor's midsummer vacation turned into a living nightmare when he picked up the hitchhiking ghost of an Irish girl who was crushed under the wheels of a car in 1980!

He wasn't the first motorist to pick up the pretty teenager — who died 10 years before!

"What happened to me is impossible but true," said the professor. "I spoke with the dead girl's father. I talked to other motorists who have stopped to give the same girl a ride.

"I talked with the girl herself and took her in the form of a corpse that doesn't even exist any more."

The professor, who lives in New York, had waited to resume sightseeing until he recuperated. He suffered a [illegible] highway in Ireland while vacationing there in December.

It was dead of night and rain was torrential," he continued.

When I first saw the girl in her flowing pink dress she didn't look any more substantial than the glare of my headlights on the wet highway.

But as I got closer I could see that she was not only real but beautiful.

I'm not in the habit of picking up hitchhikers. But the weather was so bad I made an exception.

The young woman, identified only as Sarah, said she [illegible] and asked to be dropped off at her family's home about ten miles down the road.

She told me she had been to a dance and planned her ride home as she had to finish [illegible]," said the professor.

A few minutes later she told me to turn up a dirt road that crossed the highway. Then she wanted to go to her family's house and let me know her name.

The professor said he drove past the girl's home and drove to a [illegible] where [illegible]. After [illegible] he stopped into the adjoining tavern — and spotted the girl's portrait beside the cash register.

Striking up a conversation with the bartender he learned that the girl was the bride's daughter who was [illegible] and killed by a car in 1980.

"When I overheard that I had just given the girl a ride the bartender broke down and cried," said the professor.

He told me I wasn't the first person to give her a ride and probably won't be the last. He asked me if I had dropped her off at an old stone house and I said I had.

"He told me to go back and take another look at the monument.

"When I did I found what he had told me was true. The house didn't exist.

"The dirt road that crossed the highway led directly to the cemetery — the cemetery where Sarah is buried."

The professor may not be able to see him and he has [illegible] said the professor. I saw it. I spoke to it. It's something I'll never forget.

Fed-up hubby chains lazy wife to the stove

By IRWIN FISHER

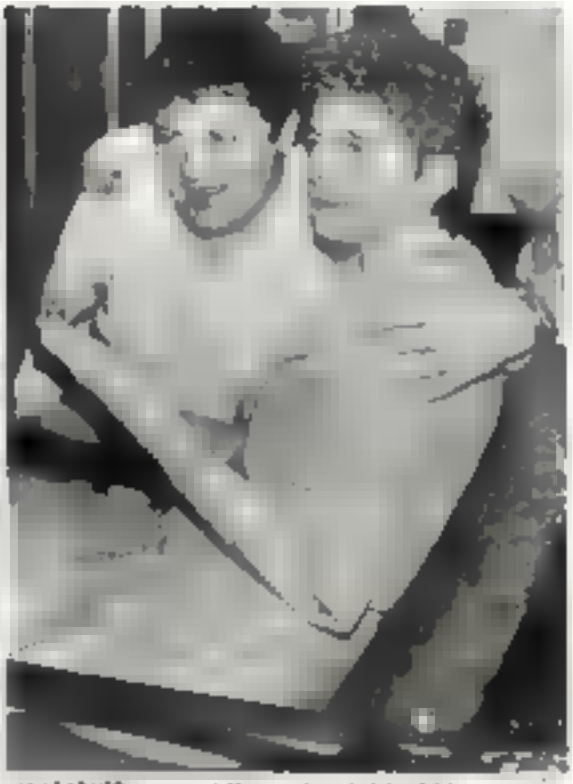
Herman Siegrist was sick of doing the housework while his lazy wife shopped, played cards and visited friends — so he chained her to the kitchen stove!

Katherine Siegrist, 42, was rescued eight days after she was shackled by a flexible steel cable that allowed her to move freely in her kitchen but prevented her from leaving her home.

'He kept me tied up like a dog for 8 days but I still love him'

"He kept me tied up like a dog," the woman told a court in disbelief. "It was frightening."

Immediately after her release, Katherine Siegrist brought suit against her husband. The heroine, his wife was always cited in local news [illegible]



"I LEARNED to respect Herman for what he did to me," says Katherine Siegrist, who spent 8 days chained to the kitchen stove.

Pervert uses phony survey to trick coeds into having sex

University officials have warned coeds at a big-city school to be on the lookout for a man who contacts pretty women under the pretext of doing a sex survey — and then talks them into bed while he's doing the interview.

TRUE LOVE HAPPENS IN SECONDS — HERE'S WHY

By BEATRICE DEXTER
Special correspondent

fall in love in less than a minute, a new study shows!

eAll it takes is a glance or gesture to get Cupid on your side, according to research—ar Christiane Doeser of the Max Planck Institute in Munich, Germany. The study first examined hundreds of men and women during the first moments of their meet-logs and found that 80 to 70 percent exhibited "romantic signs" almost immediately.

"We found that within 30 seconds — and frequently even sooner — you could tell from the couple's body language whether or not they would hit it off."

Dr Doeser and colleague Dr Karl Grammer found romantic body signals were always almost immediately. During the first 30 seconds a couple who have a rapport lean forward, smile and relax her body. Then she'll toss her hair and place one of her hands behind her neck.

The signs are different if a woman and a man are simply casual acquaintances. The researchers said especially if they are alone with a woman. They look for signs that the female is interested before moving in.

"These first 30 seconds are all that matter," the researchers concluded.

In the initial states of love, it's the women — not the men — who make the moves. Besides the rather-obvious noted by Dr Doeser, other signals are:

- Glancing around a room.
- Laughing.
- Giving short and darting glances at a man.
- Displaying open palms.
- Tilting her head forward when talking, and
- Touching a man on the arm, face or knee.

"What a remarkable is how little we know about this so often. But to women it's a well-known ritual.

THESE NUZZLING lovers decided they were right for each other — within 15 seconds of their first meeting!

"The opening line has almost nothing to do with it," said Dr Timothy Perper, a Philadelphia biologist and author. "The first step in the approach. This means someone has to get up and walk over to the other person. To be successful, the man must ignore (from the signals that it's safe to make the approach. This is the hardest part of all. Men are terrified of this. The math is men are the aggressors — but women make the first move."

Good news for undertakers!

It looks like business should be good in the years ahead for undertakers because the U.S. life expectancy is not expected to go above the current 78 years.

Scientists should work instead improving the quality, rather than the quantity of life, say researchers at the University of Chicago.

Mummified [illegible] is funeral [illegible] star attraction

For 63 years, he's been all dressed up with no place to go!

ALL decked out in a spiffy tuxedo, Speedy's mummified corpse stands in the corner of a funeral home where it's been since he dropped dead in 1938 when he was 37

[illegible] and looks very much like he did when he died.

Henry "Speedy" Atkins has been standing in a corner of a funeral home in Frederick, Ky., in his spiffy black tuxedo ever since he died 63 years ago.

The only time Speedy has been out of the mortuary was during the 1937 flood when he was swept into the Ohio River and lifted up a flight of stairs.

But all that's scheduled to change sometime this year when Speedy will finally be laid to rest.

Speedy drowned in 1938 and left no immediate family (except) of burying the 37-year-old tobacco picker. Funeral home owner A. E. Hancock embalmed him with a special fluid.

Thousands of visitors from throughout the world have stopped by Hancock's Funeral Home since then to gawk at the immaculately [illegible].

Hancock's widow Velma has been taking care of Speedy since 1948. She said her husband had written his own epitaph. "Here Hill - died 1938."

But the undertaker didn't make it in 1951. He died in 1949.

"Since my husband died, I guess he's the one through Speedy," said Mrs. Hancock.

She says she'll bury Speedy sometime this year.

She won't put the name "Speedy" on his tombstone or publicize when or where she will bury him because of the fear of vandalism.

Depending on who you believe, Atkins got the name Speedy either because he was fleet of foot or a whiz at stripping tobacco, said Mrs. Hancock.

Visitors from around the world have stopped by to see Speedy and students have conducted research and written term papers about him.

GIANT HOBOSCOPE

FOR WEEK OF

Mon., Feb. 4-Sun., Feb. 10

By Countess Sophia Saleh

ARIES

Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Whew! What happened in that upside-down that kept your motor revving for so long?

This is the perfect week to dust off the dream and take some definite steps to make it come true.

Progress should be faster than you imagined — and you could make some great new friends.

A tip from a stranger could switch your life into high.

Keep your eyes and ears open when you're in a crowd or you could miss it.

TAURUS

Apr. 20-May 20

You should expect any efforts on the area of health to get off head scratch now. Don't be discouraged by past problems.

Your stubborn streak might create friction in the coming week, but you can head off problems by showing how tolerant you really are.

Be prepared to jump on a terrific opportunity that may be coming your way in the week ahead.

Get advice from experts and friends if necessary, but don't waste time.

GEMINI

May 21-June 20

Let a smile be your umbrella this week — it will help see you through a bit of stormy weather that appears headed your way. But be of good cheer. You'll come out on top!

You would do well to reflect on recent accomplishments with regard to future goals. Don't settle for anything but your very best.

A hasty weekend story from the usual crowd could open the door to an inviting new relationship that could bring new happiness and purpose to your life.

CANCER

June 21-July 22

A pesky thorn could soon be plucked from your side, leaving you unhampered in your admirable effort to please those who are counting on you to do the right thing.

Be prepared to give a friend an assist the benefit of your hard-earned experience.

Your special sensitivity may provide the solution.

The weekend should be a good time to re-establish contact with dear friends and relatives to discuss plans.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 22

Your advice and friendship may soon help a pal out of a serious scrape. Be considerate and caring, but remind your friend that facing the truth is the beginning of the way out of the problem.

Your longtime plans might change unexpectedly, but everything should work out fine if you are patient and accept a helping hand.

Before the silly Sirdusk you bet, a weekend of social activity should result you that don't forget to do your chores.

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

A sticky problem may present itself this week, but you should work it out with the help of a friend. Your special perseverance is irresistible here.

Friends may be planning a treat for you. Take the time to socialize and accept all invitations.

Be on the lookout for a romantic encounter.

Your sense of loyalty could get in the way when one you trust tries to take advantage of you. Strive to be more objective.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Take the time to slow down, think and plan this week.

You can succeed at a shaky pace and cut risks to hell.

You should find it easy to deal with romance at this time.

A strange happening could spark big plans for improvement in your personal life. Be alert and take advantage of it.

This is a lucky color. Wear it repeatedly this weekend to enhance your fortunes — both personal and financial.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Listen up! Someone with influence and experience could provide your personal key to riches before the week is out.

All you'll need are the brains to recognize the needs of kindness when they're bestowed and the ambition to capitalize on them.

Stay alert. Don't blow this opportunity.

Rely on the weight of your views and character to pull it all together by week's end.

Don't go where you're not wanted.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

A personal problem may be resolved at last this week, so keep your chin up.

A friend could offer to help you out. Accept the offer.

You should look forward to some pleasant moments of relaxation as a bit of the pressure of your life eases. Take advantage of the rare peace and quiet to think about your long-term goals.

There's money in the air. You could receive some from an unexpected source. Save it.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

You may have a run-in with someone quarrelsome this week. But your unending ability to deal with others will keep conflict to an absolute minimum.

Good news involving your family will come to you in the next few days. A relative is thinking of you with fondness.

Do not trust new acquaintances this week if you can help it.

Have any pressing financial matters on a back burner over the weekend.

If your birthday is this week . . .

The year ahead is filled with promise, beginning with your financial situation — which should improve dramatically.

Your health also appears to be on the upswing. If you feel good now, expect to feel better!

Don't waste time worrying about things you can't do anything about. Concentrate on problems and shortcomings you can solve. It'll make you happier.

The opposite sex finds you extremely attractive in the near projection.

Look for happenings this year to change your life forever — and for the good!

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Get plenty of rest this week. You have probably been pushing yourself too hard.

A special surprise may come your way this week. You're gonna love it!

Don't hesitate to speak your mind. Saying only what you think people want to hear can cause problems for those not in the know. Be honest with friends and relatives.

You may find the itch for a close encounter of the romantic kind. Nothing wrong with that — just go for it!

PISCES

Feb. 19-Mar. 20

A passing uncertainty in your life should at last disappear.

You should be able to look forward to steady progress in those areas of most concern to you.

Be cautious in business matters for the next week or so, but a lucrative investment possibility may be worth considering.

Don't be impulsive. Get sound financial advice.

There is a strong possibility you could be rewarded in the days ahead for a past kindness.

It [illegible]! Shed those unwanted pounds with the amazing . . .

BREAD AND BUTTER DIET

Want a tried and true diet that's guaranteed to [illegible] weight? Try [illegible]ing those unwanted pounds the way grandma did — with the Bread and Butter Diet!

This amazing weight-loss regimen was the brainchild of nutritionist Elisabeth Ann of [illegible]don. In 1937 it was the hottest diet around and millions of blubbery Englishmen and Americans swore by it to lose weight.

The simplicity of the diet is striking. And provided you don't keep to the regimen for more than two weeks at a stretch, you can safely use it to lose weight just like people did over 50 years ago.

Here, reprinted from the July 5, 1937, edition of London's Daily Telegraph, is the Bread and Butter Diet in full.

"The basic principle, the chief food of this latest of slimming diets, is bread and butter. Tea or coffee, milk and water are included in the diet, but are not essentially part of the diet.

"The bread and butter should be taken five times daily — two full slices of bread at each meal, with plenty of butter. The bread can be toasted once a day, if desired. It makes little difference to the reduction.

"At breakfast, take half a pint of milk with the bread and butter.

"At noon, bread with butter.

"For a mid-afternoon meal, take bread and butter with one cup of coffee or tea, which serves as a stimulant. One tablespoonful of sugar is allowed on the tea.

"At 7 p.m. take bread with butter again, with milk or pure beverage as preferred. At bedtime, have some more bread and butter. Between meals drink as much cold water as liked."

Food expert Elisabeth Ann praised the diet as "simple, inexpensive and easy to follow by every woman who has ever-weight or over-average measurements."

"With a return to simplicity in dress, in beauty and in food essentials, this new diet should lead the way," she wrote in an article over 50 years ago.

— SUSAN JAMISON

CAUTION! Just take out a loaf of bread and a slab of butter and go to town, says our expert.

This man's nose is nothing to sneeze at

A hulking 235-pound man threw a 32-ounce cup of coffee into the face of a perfect stranger because he was frustrated over people talking about his nose!

The bizarre incident occurred when the 32-year-old man accosted the victim in a downtown Seattle, Wash., crosswalk.

According to police, the man said that even though the victim hadn't said anything to him, he was so upset over people talking about his nose that he had to hurt someone. Police charged him with assault.

King Kong Bigfoot terrorizes villagers!

Mountain villagers are being terrorized by the most fearsome beast on earth — a berserk Bigfoot as huge as the movie monster King Kong!

The King-size creature's existence came to light when two scientists said of being chased by an apelike animal above their 60 feet tall.

"The [illegible] was gigantic, part of half man and half gorilla," Peruvian anthropologist Jorge Mercedes told reporters in Lima, Peru.

Natives in several villages told us they had been terrorized for more than a year by an incredible animal who was taller than the trees," recalled Ross.

"They said he'd stand and make like were hurling trees and rocks at them, beat and roaring at the top of his lungs. They were shown us bogus crushed by uprooted trees and giant rocks, but we still thought the beast was just some crazy superstition."

But the scientists changed their minds to a hurry on the ninth day of their expedition.

"We were working along near a settlement when the showed up," Dr. Mercedes said. "He came out of the jungle crashing and thrashing and cast a shadow over everything.

"He was as big as a mountain. I was so petrified my whole body turned cold. He held a massive tree trunk in each hand [illegible] he let out a tremendous bellow and flailed the trees at us like javelins.

"He chased us for more than two miles, shaking the ground with every step. He was throwing trees and boulders at us and some of them came very close. But scared as I was, I had a feeling he wanted to frighten us and not hurt us. Finally he seemed to get tired of the game, and he just turned around and lumbered off."

Water main break shoots coffin sky high!

Seventy-five mourners watched in shock and disbelief when a water main exploded under a cemetery — blowing a coffin 30 feet into the air!

"There was a rumbling and a gurgling and then it blew," Father Luis Medina told newspapers in Jalapa, Mexico. "The water shot up and the coffin was right there on top of it. For a minute I didn't know if I was asleep and dreaming or awake and losing my mind.

"Then somebody yelled: 'She's coming down.' I ran as fast as everybody else."

At that very instant, said Father Medina, the 800-pound casket slipped off the shaft of water that was supporting it and crashed into a row of chairs beside the intended grave of Miguel Leyva, who suffered a lethal stroke at the age of 70.

Authorities who investigated the incident said it's possible that gravediggers damaged a water main that runs along the western edge of the cemetery when the man's grave was dug.

An official investigation into the matter will likely determine the exact cause.

"It was an old water main and may have ruptured on its own," said one official. "The timing certainly could have been better. Someone could have been killed."

The dead man's family was said to be devastated by the bizarre blast and refused to speak with reporters. One relative had to be rushed to a clinic where she was treated for hyperventilation.

Naughty postcards grandpa COULDN'T see

Bizarre apparitions

GHOST

SHOCKING photographs published on postcards in 1914 caused such a stir that governments around the world banned the "obscene" pictures from circulation

By JEANNE HOLDEN

The bashful belles fluttering their lashes at you from these yellowing postcards seem downright tame by today's "anything goes" standards.

But in grandpa's time, these were flesh-market treasures — so scorching they were banned the world over.

"This is the sort of thing you bought in sleazy piles of back alleys from men who said things like 'Psst! Hey, mate, you want to see some healthy pictures?'" recalled British philatelist Orrin Williams.

"They were considered pornographic, and you just knew that the women who posed for them were all shameless hussies," he said.

"Who else would defile themselves by showing that much leg in public?"

These shocking cuties are part of an exhibition of 1914 postcards owned by Yorkshire collector Peter Bulbeck.

The bawdy beauties were printed in England but the manufacturer had the cards made up in France to avoid a scandal.

They sold for a few pennies apiece in the black market in those days, but now they're worth about $75, Bulbeck said.

Stay younger longer with these easy tips

You can't turn back the aging clock, but you can protect your body from the ravages of time, with these helpful hints!

● A suntan makes you look older, prematurely wrinkled. Protect your skin from the sun with sunscreen so it won't get dry and leathery.

● Get enough sleep. Lack of rest reduces circulation and contracts capillaries, causing loss of moisture and wrinkles to appear.

● Take a citrus fruit twice a day. It will help prevent citrus damage to skin, including moles, warts, eczema, adult acne and psoriasis. It will also help ward off sleep, colitis, high blood pressure, job burnout and lack of interest in sex — all stress-related conditions.

● Eat a fiber-rich diet. Fiber helps keep your weight and cholesterol levels down, prevents hemorrhoids and tightens skin and regulates the bowels.

● Jump rope to keep in shape and sharply. It's great aerobic exercise and tones arm and leg muscles. It also builds up endurance and produces a glowing rosy complexion.

● A two-mile walk every day also keeps you in fighting trim to ward off aging. The exercise

BOMBERS FROM WW 2 RAID GERMANY

NOBODY was hurt and nothing was damaged after swarms and images of huge WW2 bombers filled the pre-dawn skies over a German city this past December.

By TOM ALLEN
Special to The NEWS

Hundreds of phantom British bombers blitzed a German city last month in a ghostly reenactment of a mission that took place during World War 2, say experts.

"It was a collision of past and present, pure and simple," said Dr. Bunstmann Spitz, a renowned paranormal researcher from Berlin.

"The appearance of the bombers on three consecutive nights has been documented in extended interviews with residents and Western military sources stationed on German soil.

"Don't ask me how they did it. But it looks like those planes flew from the past to the future through a glitch in time. World War 2 historians confirmed that the pre-dawn blitz of the unidentified city on December 20, 21 and 22 coincided with a British attack on the same dates in 1944," Dr. Spitz said.

Although German authorities have gone all out to suppress news about the incident, Dr. Spitz said highly placed sources told him the phantom bombers were tracked on radar for 11 minutes.

"The search for enemy planes was intensive but visual contact was never made, even though images of the bombers literally filled their radar screens," said Dr. Spitz.

"On the ground civil defense agencies were alerted and citizens cowered in their homes. Witnesses said the drone of the bombers was deafening," he said.

Mark Hasler, who has worked closely with Dr. Spitz in his investigation of the incident, said reports that television and radio receivers picked up the voices of British pilots talking back and forth during the phantom raid have yet to be officially confirmed by authorities.

"We've been told that many people heard voices calling for bomb loads to be dropped and for pilots to veer away from the searchlights on the ground," said Hasler.

Other investigators aren't so sure that the incident actually took place.

One expert, Gunter Dahn of Baden-Baden, questions the reliability of information that has trickled in.

"If these so-called witnesses heard anything it was probably in their own minds," he said.

"Without more solid information to go on, I would say mass hysteria is a possible cause."

prevents osteoporosis, a weakening of the bones which leads to fractures after age 30 in women and the ugly "dowager's hump" after 50.

● Laugh a lot. Studies show laughter prevents the stress that leads to bad skin days. What's more, a good chuckle will take 15 years off your age. People who look happy live longer and enjoy better long-term health, according to research.

● Give your hair a youth treatment. Feed it plenty of iron by making sure that egg yolks, raisins, lentils and prunes are on your menu.

● Drink plenty of water. Too little water can give you wrinkled skin, kidney stones and urinary tract infections. Get at least six full glasses a day.

● A fat-free diet keeps you young. Butter, your bread only on weekends to reduce breast and colon cancers, heart attacks, strokes, high blood pressure and arteriosclerosis.
